Save First—make it a lifelong habit

You can take charge of your financial future by setting up a savings program that lets you save automatically. We call it the Save FirstSM program. Whether your goals include your first car, a new home, a long vacation or saving for your children's education, you can accomplish them all when you pay yourself first.

By paying yourself first—putting away a little every payday—the money will add up over the months and years. With direct deposit and automatic transfers to savings accounts, you can put money aside for yourself before you start spending it.

It's easy at Navy Federal[®]. You'll find that we have products for the saver who is just starting out and for those with larger amounts to invest. By saving, you'll have the money necessary to meet your financial goals and Navy Federal will help you achieve them.

Make savings automatic

Direct Deposit and allotments save you time and effort. Your money is automatically deposited into your accounts on the day the funds are received. Since there are no holds on the funds, your money is available to you, no matter where you are, through Navy Federal Online[®], Touch-Tone Teller, PLUS[®] System and CO-OP Network ATMs.

Direct Deposit

With Direct Deposit, you can arrange for the automatic deposit of:

- military or civilian net pay
- retirement income
- Social Security, VA, Civil Service, Survivor Annuity, Railroad or other U.S. government benefit
- dividend/interest payments from investments
- alimony or child support payments
- any funds paid to you by participants in the Automatic Clearing House (ACH) network

To sign up, provide the payer with your Navy Federal savings or checking account number (10 digits) and our Routing/Transit Number, 2560-7497-4. Then call Navy Federal to inform us how you want your money distributed. You can put part of the funds from your direct deposit into your checking account and a portion in your savings account.

MyPay

If you're active or reserve military, a Defense Finance and Accounting Service (DFAS) civilian employee or a DoD civilian employee, you can manage your pay information (including the set-up of direct deposits and/or allotments), leave and earning statements, W-2s and more with myPay. Visit the myPay Web site, sponsored by DFAS, at <https://mypay.dfas.mil/mypay.aspx>.

Allotments

You can also make regular deposits to your Navy Federal savings, checking and loan accounts by requesting an allotment (a portion of your net pay). Once a month, the amount you specify will be forwarded to Navy Federal.

Navy Federal savings services

Navy Federal has a variety of programs to meet your savings needs. Dividends are paid on the principal, as well as any earnings that have been credited to the account.

Savings

Our basic savings account provides you with:

- total liquidity (make withdrawals and transfers anytime by mail, in person, at an ATM or on Navy Federal Online)
- free Life Savings Insurance for the member-owner up to $2,000, depending on the total savings balances and your age
- a dividend rate and yield that is higher than a checking account

Savings Programs

- dividends earned from day-of-deposit to day-of-withdrawal on the entire balance at the end of the day
- dividends that are compounded monthly and credited to the account the last business day of each month

Plus, your account is federally insured in accordance with federal regulations.

Please note: While there is no limit to the number of savings withdrawals you may make on available funds in person, by mail or at an ATM, federal regulations limit the number of certain types of transactions from your savings account during a calendar month. No more than six of the following transactions, in any combination, are allowed:

- automatic transfers from your savings account to cover checking overdrafts
- telephone transfers from your savings requested through Touch-Tone Teller or by calling Navy Federal headquarters or a branch
- transfers generated through Navy Federal Online
- transfers requested via fax
- ACH debits

If you maintain an active checking, Share Certificate, Individual Retirement Account (IRA) or Education Savings Account (ESA), or have a current account with the credit union as a borrower, you must maintain a minimum $5 savings balance. Otherwise, a minimum $50 savings balance is required.

If you have a savings balance of less than $50 with no activity for 12 months and no other Navy Federal account relationships, you will be charged an Inactive Member fee of $3 per quarter. The fee does not apply to members under age 25.

Money Market Savings Account

A Money Market Savings Account is a liquid savings account that offers the potential for higher earnings than a standard savings account, but the number of transactions per month is limited.

Checking

Navy Federal has checking accounts to fit your lifestyle. You get 24-hour account access through a Visa® Check Card, Navy Federal Online, Touch-Tone Teller and Web Bill Pay.

Use your Visa Check Card at millions of merchants and ATM terminals worldwide. You can pay for goods and services wherever the Visa debit card is accepted. Look for the Navy Federal, CO-OP Network and PLUS® System terminals for ATM accessibility. Navy Federal and CO-OP Network ATMs are free to Navy Federal members.

Save time using Direct Deposit and Automated Clearing House (ACH) payments for recurring bills.

To open an account, apply online at www.navyfcu.org. As soon as your application is processed, we'll mail you an initial supply of checks printed with your name and address.

Certificates

Certificates have a rate and yield higher than share savings accounts and are purchased for a specific term and in amounts at or above a minimum face value. Certificates are an excellent place for larger amounts that you won't need in the short term. They're also a great place to invest money for your retirement because their return is guaranteed. But remember, penalties will apply if you redeem the certificate before its maturity date.

IRA Plans

Navy Federal offers Traditional, Roth and Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs). You contribute money to an IRA during your wage-earning years to help cover expenses during retirement. Your contribution will be the maximum allowed each year or 100% of earned income, whichever is less.

Roth and Traditional IRA Contribution Limits

Years	Less than age 50	Over age 50
2006–2007	$4,000	$5,000
2008	$5,000	$6,000
2009	Indexed for inflation	inflation + $1,000

Traditional IRA

With a Traditional IRA, depending on your Adjusted Gross Income and marital status, you may be eligible to take a tax deduction in the year you make the contribution.

Roth IRA

With a Roth IRA, the contributions are not tax-deductible. Instead, the funds contributed and the dividends earned are tax-free when withdrawn after age 59½, as long as the funds have been in the account for five years.

Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRA

SEP plans are retirement plans for small business owners who have either few or no additional employees.

IRA Accounts

Traditional, Roth and SEP contributions can be deposited in an IRA Share Account or Certificate.

Specialty Accounts

Navy Federal offers several types of accounts to handle special needs.

Custodial Accounts

A Custodial Account is a special savings account, established under the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act, to administer gifts to a minor until the funds are released by the custodian.

Education Savings Account (ESA)

An ESA is a trust that allows you to save for a child's education expenses. Contributions grow tax-free and withdrawals for qualified higher education expenses are tax-free.

Savings Programs

ESA Certificates

See Share Certificate section. ESA contributions are eligible for all $1,000-minimum certificate products described in this section, as well as EasyStart and 3-Year Variable Rate Certificates.

Custom Club® Accounts

A Custom Club Account is a savings account for specific purposes such as holiday shopping, vacations, weddings, etc. You choose when to start and when you want it to end. Select any term, from 3 months up to 5 years. You can even choose what to call it.

Estate Accounts

An Estate Account is the best way an administrator can keep an estate's affairs in order and separate from his/her own. It consists of a special checking account with a companion savings account, in which a deceased member's assets can be deposited and withdrawn by the estate administrator.

Trustee Accounts

Trustee Accounts are estate planning tools that allow you to manage and use the money in your accounts during your lifetime while providing that any remaining funds will pass, upon your death, to your loved ones. Navy Federal also offers accounts to hold funds for legally established trusts.
